

Frequency Qualities inherent in the Taala measurements calculated for your dome and created with this resonance by Pacific Domes

This dome has been calculated at a wave length or resonance which vibrates with the 27th nakshatra, revati. The taala measure resonates with the #1917 and translates into English measure as 27'-5 13/64".

Your personal relationship with this wave length deeply enhances your ability to relate and communicate (more deeply than words) with all beings in your life. This includes family, community, devas, the plant, animal, and mineral kingdom as well as your higher self etc. At a simple level this reflects the harmony of friendship as a love relationship with all in your life. This may also purge or purify your relationships, including at an inner level, even with yourself! It may shift your relationships with those who are not in honor of who you really are, as well as defining your own self awareness at these levels.

There is an inherent vortex associated with each universal wave length and frequency. This measure is associated with a universal vortex which is inflowing and associated with the energy and supply flowing into your life. The associated number is 12. This resonance creates a unity between body, mind, soul, and spirit with the supreme Source of all energy and supply, which energizes the manifestation of our inner creativity and supports optimal experience, abundance, and prosperity. #12 deeply grounds and anchors our creativity deeply into the heart of the earth, stimulating solid abundance and success in all positive endeavors.

There is an inherent out flowing vortex which relates to the way in which we express ourselves in life and stimulates a balance between our connection with our universal supply and our output, etc. This quality in this wave length is qualified as a number 3. This quality unites heaven and earth within the inner being and through outer experience. All endeavors and experiences become blessed through this divine union. This relationship with the outflowing vortex is very positive and stimulates and ever greater supply in relationship with our creativity and output of energy and resources.

There is also a primary direction of energy inherent within every wave length of sound/light frequency. In this one the direction in relation to the earth's energy grid is #7. This signifies the north direction. This emphasizes empowered creativity; that is the manifestation of our inner vision into material experience. This also stimulates mental brilliance, clarity, and memory, etc. The ability to draw positive people, resources, and experiences is inherent here. Excellent for a career, business ventures, community service, etc.

This wave length has a resonant relationship with the week day, Thursday, related to Jupiter. This is a powerful force for divine wisdom and empowerment in creativity and manifesting the inner vision into the outer world of experience.

There is also a ruling or all pervasive quality in this wave length. This quality called "Amsam" supports positive and loving service to others which is heightened by true self respect and self love beyond mere ego ideologies. This positive self love is an identification with one's true eternal identity and reality and transforms one's service to others in this life in ways which empowers all beings to attain their true identity to the extent they are ready and willing to let go of old attachments to the separated ego.

In summary: this wave length is a powerful support in the integration of your consciousness, and of body, mind, heart, and soul, with your eternal identity which is one with the supreme Creator of all universal reality. Inherent also is the natural alignment with universal synchronicity which is the secret to all co-creation and fulfillment in life. There is a special emphasis here in balancing relationships, communication, stimulating inner creativity into outer expression, and in the natural abundance, health, and prosperity which is our universal heritage.

With love and best wishes,
